

The Nutshell

Hazelwood School

The three one act plays performed by our talented Year 6 on Wednesday, Thursday and tonight were, and are going to be, an absolute triumph. They certainly rank up there as some of the best I have seen in my many years at Hazelwood and the children, on and behind, the stage are to be applauded for their efforts and their talents. They made me laugh, they made me wonder, they made me want to join in and be part of the team. What's more, I now know how to drink a fast-food milkshake, how to confidently sport pink leg warmers and green glitter face-paint and how to avoid Harriet's mean right hook! In choosing three stand-alone plays, Mrs Housego was able to cast the children in their perfect roles (Eddie H is clearly destined to go into the church when it is time to make his career choice!), giving them the opportunities to develop their on-stage characters and to shine. There was no hiding behind a cast of fifty. Smaller plays mean less bodies on stage and more lines and action for everyone. It was a brave decision but one which paid off handsomely. Everyone performed brilliantly. I could see that the children were enjoying themselves and this feeling rubbed off on the members of the audience, some of whom loved the plays so much that they came every night to show their support. Just when you think that the bar cannot be raised any higher, along come 6C, 6F and 6B and boom! it's blasted right out of the park. Tonight's final performance will, I am sure, continue the stratospheric trajectory of afore-mentioned bar! I am delighted that so many of our Year 6 have chosen to continue their learning journey in Hazelwood's Year 7. The Year 8 play promises, already, to be something magnificent and wonderful.

Only two things stand in the way of an Oscar-deserving performance tonight: the first is fatigue of those members of Year 6 who are also at the IAPS U11 Netball Finals all day in Basildon. The second, and more real threat is the congestion on the dreaded M25! I sincerely hope that the motorway remains clear and that the wind does not pick up and close the Dartford Bridge. The girls have a really good chance to do well in this most prestigious competition having continued to practice and discuss strategy and tactics all week. Their minds must be buzzing with all that this week has thrown at them. At the time of writing however, I am delighted to report that there are still springs in their steps, no major injuries to report and all are promising to show grit and determination until the final curtain falls at 9pm on Friday night. After that there will be some very tired children who will have deserved to be spoilt rotten his weekend! The U11 team will be competing alongside the U13 girls who also qualified for the IAPS national Finals. This is the first time that the school has had two netball national finalists and I am immensely proud that it has happened in my first year as

We are the CHAMPIONS!! U11 netball team came out on top of 234 teams entered into the IAPS National Finals. So absolutely PROUD of the team, their coaches and their supporters.

Head. I am not of course beginning to take any of the credit. The two events are pure coincidence. Instead I am applauding the athleticism and mental agilities of the pupils and the dedication and inspiration of their coaches. Thanks too should be given to the parents who have supported the girls on this most exciting and taxing of journeys. A team effort which, regardless of the eventual outcome, is to be celebrated. (I may, however, clear a small space on the trophy cabinet for at least one trophy!) 'Do your best' wishes to our netballers and our trio of talented gymnasts all of whom go for National Glory over the next 48 hours.

Congratulations to the U9A Rugby team who secured their fourth trophy of the season with a well-deserved victory in last weekend's Holmewood House tournament.

With spring on its way we have had a flurry of visitors on both sites, looking to secure places for the children in year groups right across the year groups. I have had the pleasure of meeting most of the visiting families after they have been around the school and nursery and without exception, all are full of the highest praise for the children and staff at Hazelwood School and Nursery. They have been impressed by the manners and politeness of the children, by the attention shown by all in class, by the smiles on their faces and by the pleasure which both clearly derive from the teaching and the learning. I am only sorry for many that all we can offer them is a place on the waiting list with a promise of a prompt telephone call should anything change within their target cohort.

Good luck to George Head, Mr Head's son who is representing England against Scotland in Saturday's U18 game. 2pm on Sunday is the time to kick back and relax, either before or after a delicious Sunday roast. Good luck George! It is being live-streamed and can be viewed via Facebook, YouTube or the RFU website.

And finally, Mrs Tulett's parent art class began last week. Having been brave enough to put their names down, the ten cautiously optimistic artists had the courage to turn up (or most did) for the first of their five sessions. The theme was '50 Shades of Colour' and the first task was to plan their response to the theme and to develop a mood board capturing their ideas and laying out their inspirations. Judging by the work on show already, it isn't hard to see where the children get their talents from. If the finished works of art are half as good as their scribbles of evolution, we are in for a treat. On completion, Mrs Tulett has promised that the final pieces will be made available to the school for a special exhibition showcasing, for once, the Prowess of Parents!

News from The Nursery & Early Years

We have had an out of this world time this week at HNEY with a visit from the mobile planetarium. All of the children enjoyed a sensory exploration of space, looking at the surface of the moon and seeing just how big the sun really is. In addition, we have seen rockets galore, experiments aplenty and numerous budding scientists creating lotions, potions and some fairly explosive mixtures!

Fledglings 1 have explored the miracle of flight with their paper aeroplanes and observed the mixing of oil and coloured water, they particularly enjoyed the mesmerising separation process. They enjoyed playing with and watching natural objects frozen in ice cubes melt.

Fledglings 2 have been making rainbow coloured ice lollies, wind catchers and sun catchers – summer has clearly come to this room! The children loved their visit to the mobile planetarium and enjoyed a full 30-minute sensory tour of space.

Top Robins have been growing cress, exploring space and even built a rocket in which to explore space. The children enjoyed seeing how a balloon could speed along a zip wire and in between their papier-mâché planets.

Bottom Robins created a role play space station and made mini rockets with paper tubes which then adorned their small world moon scene. The children enjoyed making play dough aliens which really did come in all shapes and sizes.

The Skylarks children have embraced Science Week like true scientists and have been experimenting with all sorts of different materials. They have seen a 'Skittles Colour Run', made home-made lava lamps, created Bouncing eggs, and they even witnessed the chemical reaction between vinegar and bicarbonate of soda. They discovered that Coca-Cola and salt had a similar, though not quite so impressive, reaction.

The children spent time sorting living and non-living items on the Classification table and baked some delicious extra banana-y banana bread with an added special ingredient!

During Science Week Oak have been exploring the environment using their 5 senses. Activities have included their sense of smell to work out what was in the mystery pots. This was more challenging than the children first thought! A texture hunt encouraged them to use their sense of touch and think of accurate describing words. The children also enjoyed mixing colours when painting with amazing results. Mrs Roe taught the children about dynamics during their Music lesson, which was later explored in the class by trying to create a simple composition using percussion instruments.

Vocab Express update:

I am delighted to see the level and enthusiasm raised by the Vocab Express competition which started on Monday.

I can sense a good degree of competition emerging too...we are the best, yes we are!

I am writing to inform you of a change to the timings for this year's Global Challenge competition.

Rather than ending at 3:30pm GMT on Friday 10th March, the leaders of the software have decided to extend the running of the competition until 3:30pm GMT on Sunday 13th March. This means two more days of competitive vocab learning for Year 7 and 8!

Best of luck for the remainder of the competition, results will be published as soon as possible.

Courage et au travail les Champions!

Notice of withdrawal

Sadly, we are at that time of year, already, when those leaving the school to continue their learning adventures elsewhere, need to let us know. Other than the families of our Year 8 cohort, if you are moving on to your chosen Senior School or relocating abroad, a letter or email giving notice needs to be with either the Head or Bursar by the final day of term. Letters of withdrawal received after this date will be subject to a term's fees in lieu of due notice regardless of whether the place is subsequently filled or not. This reminder is not intended to be an encouragement for you to leave! Instead it is published in recognition that life is hectic, and letters of this kind, of seeming inconsequence, can, if missed have expensive repercussions!

Congratulations to Charlie Y
 Charlie (far left) swam in the Reigate District Cubs Swimming Gala last Saturday. He was part of a team of 5 selected from pre-Gala trials to represent his Cub Group (34th Reigate - Meadvale).

They competed against other groups in multiple races- some of which fielded larger teams of swimmers.

They swam like fishes and won every single race that they participated in to win the District Swimming Gala Shield.

There were 19 Cub Groups taking part and lots of vocal support from parents in the gallery which is probably mum was a little hoarse this week!!

Charlie swam in the Gala for Hazelwood against Somerhill Schools on Monday which resulted in a victory for Team H.

Year 8 Career's Talk

Today Graham Ford came in to talk to us about his job and why he chose the career path he did. Mr Ford started his talk with the interesting story of the restaurant that he works for, Bill's. He explained that the founder (Bill), who was a small green grocer, built his business up from the ground. He then talked about his role within the business, which was to help Bill's expand from two restaurants to the 76 they have now. Throughout his talk, Mr Ford made one thing very clear, to do what you love and don't think about the money. He loved everything about his job and this was key to why he had been successful and has remained in the same industry. After tantalising us with pictures of Bill's spectacular food, Mr Ford kindly left us with vouchers and one very large chocolate coin. YUM!

Thank you very much Mr Ford and Miss Clayton for organising.

Well done to the U13 and U11 netball teams who performed out of their skin at Friday's IAPS Finals. Both teams represented the school well and gave the army of supporters gathered court-side something to cheer about. Thank you for flying the Hazelwood flag with so much talent and spirit. Huge congratulations to the U11s - IAPS Champions 16.

Year 6 have been investigating graphic and packaging design. Exploring the properties of the 'humble net', they have come up with some wonderful designs and executions.

2016 Year 6 Play:
Three Short Plays

Preparing for all weathers, the children in Fledglings 2 this week have been making sun and wind catchers. Hoping too for the return of Thursday's rising temperatures, they have loaded the freezer full of home-made ice lollies! Meanwhile in Robins, the week has blasted off into outer space following the visit of the mobile planetarium. Inspired by galaxies beyond, the children have been preparing for lift off in their own space suits and exploring the small world with a distinctly lunar feel. Space travel is a hungry business so it only seems right that there should be a batch of moon rock cakes waiting for our rumbling stomached astronauts on their welcome return to Planet Robins.

2M think with their feet!

Having watched a feature on BBC's Newsround where schools are investigating whether wearing slippers into the classroom creates a calmer and therefore more productive atmosphere, 2M wrote letters of petition to Mrs Louw to ask if they could undertake their own week of research. They felt that they too would find an invigorated lease of learning life if they ditched their school shoes at the classroom door and slipped their feet into something more comfortable, more furry and of course, in some cases, more colourful. The children's letters were very well-crafted and were very persuasive. Mrs Louw, and members of the SLT applauded the initiative. The green light was given for Slipper Week which comes to an end today.

The children have recorded how they felt about their learning before donning their slippers and have been noting down all week how they feel wearing slippers has changed, if at all, their concentration in class. The two, in the interests of good research, will be compared next week as they look to draw their own conclusions.

Well done to 2M for seizing the initiative. Hopefully relaxing at home will become more easy now that the slippers have been returned. Thank you to the parents of 2M who have supported this initiative. More information about the idea can be found by following the link below:

Sox is an adorable 8-month old lurcher cross who was rescued by a member of the school Catering Team. Sadly, the family work and cannot give Sox all the attention he needs. He is house-trained and gets on well with other dogs.

Please call Tیرهena on 0770 380 4030 if you can step in to give Sox the kind of life and love that he deserves.
